CITY'S RESOLUTIONS ACCEPT SCHEDULES OF WATER CHARGES

Action Is Taken To End Controversies Over Rates of Company

PRESENT RATE IS FOR ONE QUARTER

Settlement Already Is Accepted By The Water Company

The city councils of Albany and Decatur, at special meetings Wednesday afternoon and evening adopted resolutions, accepting the new rate schedules agreed on for water service in the Twin Cities. The schedule already has been accepted by the water company, and the action is expected to bring an end to federal court litigation started by the company in an effort to force an increase.

The rates agreed on are higher than the old rates, but lower than the rates now being collected for this quarter. Under the terms of the agreement the present rates will remain in effect only for this quarter.

Attached to the resolutions adopted by the councils were the following statements:

Memorandum of a settlement of a suit instituted by the Alabama Water Company against the Alabama Public Service Commission, et als, relating to water rates, services, charges and contracts in the cities of Albany and Decatur, Alabama.

Representatives of the Alabama Water Company have met the Alabama Public Service Commission, its engineers and counsel, and at the suggestion of the judges of the United States district court, have discussed a settlement of this litigation.

1. It is agreed that the schedule of rates and charges, copy of which is hereto attached, shall be filed in said cause in the United States district court and with the Alabama Public Service Commission; and that such schedule of rates will be approved by the Alabama Public Service Commission to become effective as of October 1, 1925. It is agreed that the rates filed with the Alabama Public Service Commission to become effective as of July 1, 1925, under which service is now being rendered and collected for, shall be approved by the Alabama Public Service Commission as to the rates for that quarter only, and that the bond which has been executed by the Alabama Water company, and filed in said cause, may be, with the consent of the said court, released, cancelled, and the Water Company discharged from all liability thereunder.

2. The City Council of Albany and Decatur will pass a resolution approving the schedule of rates, and will request the Alabama Public Service Commission to do likewise.

3. The schedule of rates, and this agreement, and the decree of the Alabama Public Service Commission approving the schedule of rates will be filed with the United States District Court, and the Judge of said court will be requested by proper order to be agreed upon by the attorneys of the parties, to dismiss the case.

4. The Alabama Water Company will pay the costs of the suit in the District Court of the United States, which may be amortized by it as an operating cost during a period of five (5) years.

DEFENDANT FOUND DEAD IN HIS CELL

Trial Of Doctor Young On Murder Charge Abruptly Ended

(Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, August 27.—Dr. Thomas W. Young, dentist, on trial here for the murder of his wife and the burying of her body in a cistern, killed himself in the county jail here early today.

County jail employees discovered the dentist's body, hanged in his cell, where he had strangled himself with a piece of wire. He had been dead for sometime when the body was found.

The suicide ends the trial of Dr. Young on the murder charge.

Jurors in the case were ordered at the close of the court yesterday to make a visit to the suburbs today to the cistern beneath which Mrs. Young's body was found.

Cotton Burns At The Patterson Gin

The Patterson gin on First avenue was the scene of what at first promised to be a costly blaze at 4:45 o'clock this morning, when a fire was discovered in a bale of cotton on the gin platform. Four bales were damaged, only one, however, being other than scorched.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Johnson, at the Alabama Power company plant on First avenue, who turned in the alarm. The cotton was ginned yesterday afternoon.

FRENCH MALE JOURNALISTS DENY WOMEN ADMISSION TO PRESS CLUB

(Associated Press)

PARIS, Aug. 27.—The latest defeat suffered by women seeking equal rights, privileges and treatment with men, has come from newspaper men who have refused to admit feminine co-workers as members of their press club, which is a state-aided institution.

Although French newspapers as a whole support women's right in general, the attempt by women journalists to obtain the right of joining the press club has been steadily frustrated for years. The question came before a general meeting of the club and the admission of women was defeated by 78 votes against 48.

His father, a superintendent on the job, saw him fall. Moody lost his footing and fell on the inside of the tank to the bottom. He was rushed to the hospital in an ambulance but not taken into the infirmary as it was discovered he was dead when the body arrived there.

The gas tank, which was only partly completed, is to be one of the largest in the south.

They are Julius Fincannon and Earl Holbrooks of Dallas. The attempted looting of the Buffalo Rock company's safe was the second robbery of the night.

Farmers Guests Of Kiwanians Tonight

TENNESSEAN WILL TALK ON RELATION OF CITIES TO FARM

Charles C. Gilbert Will Deliver Address At Conference

FINE PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

Work of Whole Year Is Culminated In The Meeting Tonight

Everything is in readiness for the Kiwanis meeting tonight at the Y. M. C. A. and more than fifty farmers have signified their intention of attending this meeting as the guests of the local Kiwanis club. This meeting is a culmination of the work of the farm relations committee, which was headed by Billie Rahm, and which has done wonderful work for the club year.

The principal speaker for the evening will be Chas. C. Gilbert, of Nashville, Tenn., who is an outstanding Kiwanian in the Tennessee-Kentucky field, and his message will be 'The relation of the city man and the farmer.'

Entertainment has been provided for by the committee, and Miss Dorothy Patterson will sing, as will the Y. M. C. A. quartette, and Miss Virginia Street will read for the club and their guests.

It was predicted by club officials today that the number to attend this meeting would exceed 120, and that it would be one of the most important meetings of the year.

Probably the outstanding feature of the evening will be the trial of the 'Scrub Bull,' as will be produced by Walker Clifton and associates, assisted by experts from the Farm Extension Department at Auburn.

Members are expected to be at the Y. M. C. A. at 6:30 to welcome the farmer guests.

WHAT is more dangerous than ocean travel, riding on railroads or flying in an airplane?

The answer, given by Mr. Johnson, of the National Life Insurance company, is fat.

FAT KILLS Americans more rapidly than anything else. Fat degenerates the heart kills many. Fat accumulates on middle-aged business men, and that kills them before their time.

In old age especially fat is dangerous. And in old age it is most difficult to get rid of dangerous fat. The heart won't stand exercise that might take the fat off. The feeble will cannot control diet.

THE safest place in the world as regards accidents is the cabin of a big steamship on the ocean.

Rabid Dog Said To Have Bitten Moulton People

The head of a dog, sent here from Moulton, for examination at the Tennessee Valley laboratory proved positive for rabies this morning, the disease being of what is known as "the furious" type.

The dog was said to have bitten several people at Moulton and they are expected to take the pasteur treatment.

An examination of the head of a dog from Decatur also showed positive. The dog was reported to have bitten no one, however.

L. W. MITCHELL IS GIVEN A PROMOTION

Local Organizer To Be Assigned Work In Birmingham

L. W. Mitchell, local organizer of the Fraternal Aid Union, has been promoted to a district managership in the Birmingham district and probably will leave soon to enter his duties in the new field. He will continue to make his home here, at least for a time.

Announcement of the appointment followed a visit here of J. D. Lighter, of Birmingham, state manager of the organization.

Mr. Mitchell will have in his new territory Ensley, Pratt City, Bessemer, Fairview and intermediate points. He will be assisted by a staff of four men.

The promotion of the local man will be received with pleasure by his many friends in this section. Mr. Mitchell declared, however, that he regretted very much to leave here.

Gasoline Prices Still Tumbling

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., August 27.—The retail price of gasoline dropped from 24 cents a gallon to 23 today. Every retail oil firm in Birmingham had orders to make the cut, with the exception of the Texas company, which had not been notified such a reduction was to be made.

This is the second reduction of the retail price of gasoline in Birmingham in two weeks.

The Wofford Oil company announced two weeks ago a cut of one cent, which was followed by other gasoline distributors.

America's Enemy—Fat.
Mr. Reyburn Sees France.
10-Pound Baby? Wrong.
45-Year-Old Umbrella? Wrong

Next in safety comes a railroad train, and before long the flying machine will be safer than either. The man in greatest danger is the fat man past middle age, eating heartily and hurriedly when he is tired. Don't insure him.

SAMUEL W. REYBURN returns from Europe praising the industry and efficiency of France. 'Intensive agricultural methods and artistic industry,' according to Mr. Reyburn, account for the great wealth of France and her extraordinary revival following the war.

There exists no more capable people than the French. They produce and they save; they put art into everything, from a roast chicken.

ONE-FOURTH OF THE BUSINESS DISTRICT RAZED BY FLAMES

Volunteer Brigade On Courthouse Roof Saves Structure

DROUGHT HURTS FIGHTERS' CHANCE

Absence of Wind Alone Saves Remainder Of Little City

(Associated Press)

ASHLAND, Ala., Aug. 27.—Fire destroyed approximately one fourth of the business section of Ashland early this morning, raising five buildings on one side of the square and threatening the county courthouse and the remaining part of the town while scores of volunteer workers fought the flames from three o'clock until long after daylight.

The fire, which was of unknown origin, caused a property and stock loss which was estimated at $60,000. An office building, postoffice, a dry goods store, grocery store, furniture store and moving picture theater being consumed in the blaze.

The volunteer company fought almost beneath the shadow of the water standpipe containing the maximum amount of water pressure, but the long drought which has held sway in Clay county had so lowered the water supply that the blaze gained headway despite all efforts of the local company and the help given by the chemical apparatus which was called in from the neighboring town of Lineville.

Only the absence of wind and the combined efforts of the citizens saved the town, which was, for sometime, in danger of complete destruction.

A bucket brigade, reaching to the third story of the courthouse kept it from being ignited.

CONTROVERSY OVER WATER RATES NOW BELIEVED TO BE AT AN END

The long controversy over water rates to be charged consumers in Albany and Decatur is believed to have been brought to a close and before many days have passed, it is expected that the legal steps necessary to put the new agreement into legal form, will have been taken.

The people of the Twin Cities, while they will have to pay an increase to the water company, are glad that the issue has been settled. They will find some consolation also in the fact that the increase will not be as great as they are paying at present, because the compromise rate is not as high as the one proposed by the water company and the one which is being collected, pending an adjustment.

The public service commission and the officials of the two cities have worked diligently to safeguard the rights of the cities in the negotiations and the people generally will have little fault to find with them. Some regret will be expressed, of course, by some who will not want to pay any increase. Yet, the Alabama Water company is entitled to a fair return on its investment. If the increase is necessary to give them that fair return, we can do little else than pay the increased rate cheerfully.

NEW ENGLAND SOCIETY FOUND SURE MEANS OF COPING WITH SEX BOOKS

The combined yearly circulation of magazines devoted to exploitation of sex is said to be 55,540,000 actually published, and we are informed, these figures include only twenty of the largest of the so-called sex periodicals.
Four people read every magazine sold, it is estimated, so it is readily seen that the number of readings of this character of "literature" in the United States totalled during the year 222,240,000.

In New England, however, the ratio has been reduced materially. The New England Watch and Ward Society tackled the job and the story of its success is an interesting one.

The local magazine distributors agreed to furnish copies of magazines to the Society a week before circulating them for sale, and the Society undertook to have them examined by a competent committee, and if they were such as to be legally actionable the wholesale jobbers agreed they would not put them on the news stands for sale, but would return them unsold to the New York, Cleveland or Minnesota publishers.

Over 300,000 copies were in this way kept from public sale in Massachusetts. The warning by the Society was not arbitrary or final, and the wholesale jobbers would proceed to secure in addition from their own legal counsel an opinion. If it agreed with that of the Watch and Ward Society, that agreement settled it. If it differed, the disputed magazine was presented all marked for easy cancellation to a judge charged with the issuance of warrants. Whichever side he took settled the matter.

The publishers of the largest one of these sex thrill magazines last fall flouted this arrangement, and sent telegrams to all independent dealers within the state offering to furnish their supply direct on order.

The Society in two days gathered evidence and raided 17 places throughout the state,—wholesale jobbers and retail merchants. Carrying out their intentions, the publisher's agent came to Boston and demanded from the New England News Co., the Magazine Wholesalers for New England, the property of his company, in the form of 10,000 copies of the objectionable magazine. He signed a receipt for them, and they thus passed into his possession. He was indicted by the Suffolk County Grand Jury for having indecent literature "in his possession with intent to distribute."

Sixteen of seventeen cases were won by the Society in lower courts, and some appealed. The appeals together with the indicted case came to trial March 8th of this year. The trial lasted for one week and resulted in a conviction. The New York circulation agent was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. The defendant had claimed exceptions to the Supreme Judicial Court, and the sentence was "stayed" to make that possible.

After examining his exceptions, the defendant saw he had no probable grounds for a new trial or to change the declared tests of the Supreme Court, so urging that he was only an employee of the publishers, his sentence was changed to $1,000.00 which he paid and waived his exceptions.

This in Massachusetts was the Waterloo of the Sex thrill magazines. The Society thus, by its method of Preventive Criticism, was able to keep from circulation the sex thrill magazines a year before the revolution came which has swept from Washington, D. C., to Spokane, Washington, and found a response in every state of the Union, eliminating the sex thrill magazines from thousands of the news stands.

MARRIAGE IN HASTE DOES CAUSE REPENTANCE IN LEISURE SAYS WRITER

The haste with which Americans are accustomed to transacting their business and domestic affairs, whether the transaction includes the sale of purchase of a piece of real estate, or the matter of winning a wife, is blamed by Rebecca West for the lead which this country is piling up in divorce courts.

The writer apparently accedes to the old tradition "marry in haste and repent in leisure." She describes, in the current issue of Harper's magazine, the experience of a young English woman, who lived in London 12 years during which time she received 12 offers of marriage. On a visit of several months to the United States, she received five proposals.

The writer takes the position that the five Americans, who offered their hand in marriage to the English visitor, could not have possibly had time to really know her, in the sense that they could have had any conviction as to whether their temperaments were such that they could have together in wholesome admiration of each other.

The author tackles the marriage question from a rather unusual angle, but her observations are interesting:

"Englishmen of the same type had been attracted to her, but during the long series of lunches and dinners and days on the river that the European temperament ordains as a prelude to a proposal of marriage the melancholy certainly had become so patent to both the wooer and the wooed that the matter was allowed to rest at friendship. But the Americans had rushed toward marriage, towards divorce without giving themselves one chance. What made them do it? Nothing that operates in English psychology. A man might fall in love as suddenly in England, but it would be because he was a practitioner of some form of romanticism. Either he would be a Don Juan, and would speedily abandon her for another lady; or marrying her he would enshrine her in his house as a worshipped, un-criticized, uncomprehended presence. But these men did not fall into Don Juans, as they proved by so freely committing themselves into the lady's power; and they were obviously looking for a thoroughly modern comradeship.
What made them, to use a phrase beloved of Mark Twain, carry on?"

"The mistake they made, I think, as that they were treating the English woman as a business proposition.
They were behaving as if she were a promising invention and the were trying to take out patent rights in her; or as if she were trying to get a lease of her from the government.

"Decidedly, the technic of business is not suitable for dealing with marriage. That is the source of the woe of the waitresses and beauty-parlor girls who confide to one stories of incredibly rash and swift marriages with young men who have read business magazines till they believe that to stick out your chin, purse your lips, look owlsh through your horn-rimmed spectacles, and act quickly is somehow to command success. At the other end of the scale it makes millionaires fling matrimonial alliance after matrimonial alliance across the social circle, standing up to sex and forcing it to give them romance and happiness, just as they have flung industrial enterprise after industrial enterprise across the continent, standing up to fortune and forcing it to give them wealth and power. This mishandling of marriage is bound to diminish as the United States approaches the limits of its industrial expansion and commerce becomes an occupation among others instead of a dominating obsession. It will then become possible for psychological processes which are not useful in business to retain nevertheless their prestige in attacking problems in other departments of life."

NEW YORK LABOR UNIONS TO TRY OUT THE CO-OPERATIVE HOME PLAN

At last the New York labor union have won out in a long fight for an opportunity to try out the co-operative home plan and announcement is made that construction will start soon of a handsome apartment house, backed by the Labor Home Building Corporation, which, in turn is backed by a number of unions. The necessary financial arrangements have been made and the building will cost a million and a half.

The apartment house idea, if successful, will do much toward relieving the housing conditions in New York. The old sums will give away before the march of progress, if the plan is the success its promoters hope it will be.

The details regarding the house are included in a dispatch from New York:

These model homes will be modern in every sense.
There will be a large garden court so that the rooms will be airy and the structural work will be of steel and brick, with exterior trimmings of stone or terra cotta. Recreation space and a gymnasium for the tenants will be provided, as an auditorium in which meetings may be conveniently held. Ten or twelve stores will occupy the ground floor.

The new apartment will consist of seven units and each will hold its quota of 3, 4, and 5-room apartments. The plot to be converted comprises twenty-six city lots, valued by realty authorities at approximately $135,000. The cost of the entire project is estimated at about $1,500,000, including the land acquired for the site. It is estimated by those carrying charges, including amortization, will be only about $14 per room per month.

During the construction of the modern apartments the Labor Home Building Corporation will do all the financing but immediately upon completion the buildings will be turned over to the Union Workers Building Association, which will be composed entirely of tenant owners. This latter organization will supervise the management of the building and administer all further funds.

For years there has been agitation in virtually all organized labor bodies to improve the housing conditions under which their membership has lived. This, however is the first direct slap taken by any of the unions at the slums and it is summed up in the stated purpose of the group responsible for the arrangement with the Prudential.

"These buildings," it is said, "are to be erected to better the living conditions of garment, fur, cloth hat and cap and pocketbook and leather goods union workers."

What New York is trying out now, sooner or later, will be tried out in other cities. Here in Albany a Decatur we have not the problem now that the larger cities face, but ultimately we will, and the experiment now being conducted may shed considerable light on a puzzle which has worried American communities ever since our forefathers insisted on gathering in great numbers in small areas.

NEGLECT CAUSES SORES IN BABY'S MOUTH

An Upset Digestion, Due to Wrong Food or Unclean Bottles, May Cause Ulcers to Form in an Infant's Mouth.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

I WISH we could care for a baby so thoroughly and properly that it would never get sick.
Alas! We can't hope for such perfection, but the good thing about it is that by strict attention to every detail of treatment we can avoid really serious ailments.

The mouth of a baby is subject to painful inflammations. It is easy to understand this, because the lining membrane of the cheeks and lips is extremely delicate. The thin tissue covers the gums and roof of the mouth, it is reflected to the tongue and reaches everywhere throughout the cavity.
There are several things which may cause inflammation in the mouth. Perhaps the most common cause is uncleanness of the rubber nipple on the nursing bottle.

There can be no health and physical development if the milk is not properly prepared for the baby and unless it is given in a clean bottle, through a clean nipple.
There must be no haphazard chance about guaranteeing cleanliness.

Without it trouble is certain to come.
It is a mistake to imagine that cleanliness means nothing more than the absence of visible dirt. Surgical cleanliness, medical cleanliness —or what I sometimes call "health cleanliness"—is something entirely different from the kind of cleanness you give an electric light bulb or the reflector on your automobile.
There cannot be health cleanliness without boiling the feeding bottles, the rubber nipples and all the utensils used in preparing the baby's food. One of the surest results of the lack of such cleanliness is infection of the mouth, an infection which may be followed by more or less severe inflammation of this region.

In digestion, which in turn is due to careless preparation of the food, there may be, to begin with, inflammation of the lining membrane of the mouth. Or the upset stomach may be the start of a series of disturbances, including sore mouth.

Whenever the baby has fever, no matter what its cause, the mouth may become sore. This adds a troublesome complication to the illness.

What I have told you about the causes of sore mouth makes it clear that cleanliness is the first step in its cure. The little mouth must be carefully washed every two or three hours with a boric acid solution, in proportions of a tablespoonful to a pint of water.

Fresh air, sunlight, attention to the bowels and reduced feeding will complete the cure.

GOOD NEWS FOR LITTLE automo- bile owners. Gasoline prices are slashed all over the country. Yes- terday in eastern territory, the cut was three cents a gallon. In the middle west many buy gasoline un- der 14 cents. It makes a big dif- ference to those that count the cost of living and motoring.

It means nothing to the big man; they don't care what gasoline costs.
And many of them, owning oil stocks, feel rather sad. A three-cent cut in gasoline may mean a $30 drop in oil stocks.

CONGRESSMAN ACKERMAN, of Plainfield, N. J., has owned the same umbrella forty-five years, car- rying it a distance of 665,000 miles into 110 countries.

That is interesting and unimportant. How many good ideas did Congressman Ackerman miss while his mind was glued to the thought,
"I mustn't lose that umbrella?"

IF HE HAD put the umbrella down, forgotten it, and left it while looking at a piece of good real estate and hurrying off to buy it, he might easily have made enough to buy a thousand good umbrellas, or a million.

thing worth while.

mail it to your senator or to your fer.

Atlanta Hot On Trail Of Pelicans With a Victory Over Nashville Vols

The Atlanta Crackers by virtue of their defeat of Nashville yesterday and the defeat of New Orleans by the Memphis Chicks now are but a scant half game ahead of the Georgia entry in the closest Southern league pennant chase in a decade. The Vols lost ground when the Crackers subdued them 11 to 5, the Nashville club donating several markers by misplays.

The Barons also won again, the first time their winning streak has reached the total of two in almost three weeks. The Barons have accomplished only two remarkable things in the whole Southern league race. One of the has been the tenacity with which Birmingham has clung to the bottom of the heap. The other is the manner in which the Dobbys stopped the pennant drive of the Pels.

New Orleans was in a fair way to sew up the pennant when the Barons dropped them five times in succession. It was a blow from which the Pels have not yet recovered.

In the National loop, Pittsburgh again gained half a game, winning while the Giants were splitting a double header. In the American the Athletics and Senators both lost again.

RAZORBACKS COURAGEOUS

(Associated Press)
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Aug. 27.—The University of Arkansas Razorbacks this fall will undertake one of the most difficult schedules that institution has ever listed for its gridiron athletes, a study of the completed football schedule reveals. There will be nine games, every one of them with a school that has, in the past, turned out powerful eleven.

There will be but four southwestern conference teams on the schedule, but every one is a powerful outfit. Southern Methodist University was the conference champion in 1923 and did not taste defeat in 1924. Rice institute may or may not turn out a powerful eleven. Rice is credited with having the stiffest scholastic of higher learning in the southwest and occasionally some of its athletes are unable to keep up to the mark. The other two conference teams are agricultural and Mechanical College eleven.

The Razorbacks do not play the Baylor Bears nor the Texas University Longhorns, two of the strongest units in the conference.

Besides the four strenuous southwestern conference games, the Razorbacks face five elevens that are known to be strong.

The first assignment of the year, a contest on October 3 with the University of Iowa at Iowa City, promises to be a real tough one. Another tough assignment is the contest with Louisiana State at Shreveport, although for the past three years the Razorbacks have returned victorious from the game. Oklahoma Baptist University, Phillips University, and Tulsa University are listed as the easiest contests on the schedule but none of them are regarded as walk-overs.

The complete schedule follows:
October 3, Iowa at Iowa City.
October 10, Oklahoma Baptists at Fayetteville.
October 17, Rice at Houston.
October 24, Phillips at Fayetteville.
October 31, L. S. U. at Shreveport.
November 7, Southern Methodist at Dallas.
November 14, Texas Christian at Ft. Worth.
November 21, Oklahoma A. & M. at Fayetteville.
November 26, Tulsa at Tulsa.

Peculiar Malady Affecting Women

Until the Discovery of G. F. P. Authorities on Female Ailments Were Baffled by Strange Condition Now Found To Be the Real Cause.

Of all the sickness and diseases which human beings become afflicted with, none are more common than the pains, nervousness, irritability and slowly wasting away of the vitality of so many women.

The real cause for this condition has for generations always been the source of much discussion and study. The most skilled specialists have been unable to find a successful specific remedy for it.

Based on the unique theory that catarrh of the generative organs is causing them to become weakened and unable to carry out the functions which nature intends for them to perform, the discoverers of St. Joseph's G. F. P. have won a distinct victory in the field of medicine. This medicine is quickly overcoming and stamping out the distressing effects of this malady, and thousands of women in the larger cities where it has been introduced are publicly praising it because they now know the cause of their condition, and are convinced that G. F. P. is the medicine they should have been using right from the first symptom of their irregularity, nervousness, pains in the side and back, loss of weight, no appetite, headaches; and nausea, unusual discomfort and swelling of limbs and joints during pregnancy.

Hours might be taken to describe the mental and bodily suffering of girls and women who suffer from this most common malady and their seemingly absolute failure to get relief from it before now. A morbid, whimsical, melancholy and distressing condition of the mind, to say nothing of the awful physical suffering is the usual state of nine women out of ten who are afflicted with dreaded catarrh of their generative organs, and life to them seems hardly worth living.
